Culinary Arts Pathways

Atlanta Technical College offers an award-winning Culinary Arts degree program that prepares aspiring chefs and food service professionals for the culinary profession. Why not study in a city with a reputation of impeccable southern charm, fine dining and world-class sophistication? The Culinary Arts program emphasizes a combination of culinary theory and practical application necessary for successful employment. Atlanta is home to the world's busiest airport and provides a rich and eclectic blend of food service/hospitality businesses in which to pursue a vibrant career. Gain hands on experience while studying in Atlanta, a city that has hosted over 45 million tourists annually, has been named by the New York Times as one of the top "52 Places to Go in 2014." Atlanta Technical College also offers opportunities to train or upgrade present knowledge or skills. Graduates of this program receive an Associates of Applied Science. Students will be prepared to pursue diverse opportunities in the culinary field as cooks, bakers, or caterers or food-service managers both here or around the world. The number of jobs in this field is projected to grow by 19% by the year 2030.

The Culinary Arts program at Atlanta Technical College is accredited by the American Culinary Federation Education Foundation's Accrediting Commission.
